

This idea is a very BAD idea - I believe that there needs to be a limit on the number of stations/ licenses that any company can own and / or operate. Already the radio industry has become essentially one identical station all playing the same songs over and over due in large part to these media empires.

I strongly believe that there should be NO lessening of control over these companies and that the FCC needs to keep a tight close watch on media outlets to ensure that there is fairness and accurate information being disseminated to the public

Thank you
